

Prairie Dog Creek near Acme, Wyoming, July 2004. The gage house (middle) and cableway (right) are on the higher terrace in the background. The cantilever gage (left) and box (middle) to access the continuous specific-conductance monitor are on the lower terrace in the foreground.